'College Circuit' can help students plan their future

FRANKFORT, Ky. (Oct. 10, 2022) — Kentuckians planning for technical training or higher education should check out "The College Circuit," a helpful informational booklet published by the Kentucky Higher Education Assistance Authority (KHEAA).

"This booklet will help students decide if they want to get more education after they finish high school," Lt. Gov. Jacqueline Coleman said. "If they do, they'll find valuable information to help them learn how to pay for that education."

Counselors can use "The College Circuit" to help their students plan for college and technical school. The booklet includes information about careers; state and federal financial aid; tips for parents; online resources; and a template for setting up a personal college plan.

Kentuckians can request a free copy by emailing publications@kheaa.com. They should include their address with the request.

KHEAA is the state agency that administers the Kentucky Educational Excellence Scholarship (KEES), need-based grants and other programs to help students pay their higher education expenses.
